To Whom it May Concern

We engaged Tom on a short term brief to assist us (EADS) in presenting perhaps our most significant bid for many years. We wanted to project a powerful and professional identity, though constrained by many corporate identity rules, and we wanted quick and original concepts.

Tom was able to capture the essence of the requirement and his ideas exceeded our expectations in all aspects.

The designs gave the bid new life and momentum and his ability to work with a diverse team was most impressive.

His attitude to work was exemplary, lending a hand to all aspects of the bids production and we felt that he became a fully fledged team member in the 6 weeks that he was engaged on the task.

His maturity defies his years and while he may appear understated the quality of his designs and his work ethic are outstanding.
